SOVIETS SPIED ON U. S. ARMY

Forced German Employees To Hand Over Secret Papers, Is Claim

(By Associated Press)
FRANKFURT, Germany, Aug. 3.—The U. S. Army announced tonight that two of three Russian soldiers, arrested recently in Berlin as spies and later released to Soviet authorities, had forced German employees of the U. S. Army to hand over secret American documents.

The announcement—issued from the office of Brig. Gen. Edwin L. Elbert, U. S. Army intelligence chief in Europe—followed Russian charges that the three Soviet soldiers were "treated like criminals while in American custody."

The U. S. Army announced that the two Russian officers—Lt. Sedov and Lt. Shulkin—were arrested in civilian clothes "for engaging in clandestine activities in the U. S. sector of Berlin."

"For forcing German employees of the U. S. Army to deliver classified documents and information about the U. S. Army and its policies," the statement said.

"For possessing inadequate documents authorizing their stay in the U. S. sector of Berlin."

The third Russian taken into custody, Pvt. Kutznetsov, who was driving the two Soviet officers when they were seized at a road block, was arrested for "acting as an accessory to the illegal activities of Sedov and Shulkin," the statement said.

Local Board Policy Is To Induct Men In 19 to 29 Age Group

Present policies of Selective Service board No. 2 of Salem include the drafting of men from 19 through 29 years of age, Clerk R. R. Woods said today.

Those drafted, however, must be single or non-fathers. He indicated that further calls will include those with the 4-F classifications and even fathers charged with non-support, as the new Selective Service law applies only to fathers supporting or maintaining a bona fide family relationship.

All draft calls were suspended through July and August, but several pre-induction examinations are scheduled at the present for the September call.

Peace Parley Chairmanship Decided

CONGRESSMEN QUIT, LEAVE FOR HOMES

Adjournment Permits Legislators To Enter Election Campaigns

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Lawmakers shifted from the legislative to the political battlefields today as the 79th congress went home expecting that it won't be back until after the November election, if ever.

The vast majority of its members, however, hoped individually to be on hand when the 80th congress is called to order in January.

Every house seat technically is at stake in November, although some of the contests already have been decided in Democratic primaries in the South. Thirty-six senate seats are to be filled, and there, too, some southern Democrats have cleared their voting hurdle.

Mob Violence in Tennessee

An expensive, late model auto is almost completely wrecked by rioting citizens of Athens, Tenn., after mobs had rebelled against armed special deputies who took over the polls in Tennessee's primary. Bystanders identified the car as belonging to one of the deputies who was seized by rioters.

ROTATION PLAN APPROVED; U. S. PRESIDES FIRST

(By Associated Press)
PARIS, Aug. 3.—Leaders of the Paris peace conference voted 12 to 8 today to rotate the conference chairmanship, as urged by the large nations, and then turned to the question of whether a two-thirds vote or a simple majority would decide all issues.

The vote on the chairmanship was the first outright tie in the dispute between large and small nations, and was a victory for the United States and Soviet Russia. The chairmanship will rotate among the United States, China, France, Great Britain and Russia in that French alphabetical order.

Favor Rotation Plan

The nations voting for the rotating chairmanship proposed by the foreign ministers council were: The U. S., Canada, China, France, Great Britain, Norway, Poland, Czechoslovakia, the Ukraine, Soviet Russia, Yugoslavia and White Russia.

The nations voting for a single permanent chairman were: Australia, Belgium, Brazil, Greece, India, New Zealand, Holland and South Africa. Ethiopia abstained from voting in the action by the powerful committee on rules and procedure.

China was not an inviting power, due to the insistence of Russia, but as a member of the foreign minister's council, will take its turn in the chairmanship rotation. Each chairman will serve three days.

The question of a two-thirds majority, favored by Russia and the United States, promised to be another fight between large and small nations. The rules committee adjourned until Monday without reaching a decision.

Trieste Question Closed

A British spokesman, meanwhile, said Britain would go down the line in support of every compromise reached by the foreign ministers on peace treaties. He expressed the opinion there would be no reopening of the Trieste question, despite Yugoslavia's opposition to the ministers' decision to internationalize that disputed city.

The rules committee wrangled all day yesterday on the chairmanship question.

It was turned in favor of the big powers when U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes announced he would support the Big Four decision because the widening split taking their turn every three days at the conference and later meetings of the foreign ministers.

Under French alphabetical order, the first permanent chairmanship would go to the United States (Eats Units) with France, Great Britain and Soviet Russia taking their turn every three days.

Secretary of State Byrnes had aligned himself with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov in calling for rotation of the chairmanship.

However, Byrnes voiced anew his stand at the foreign ministers' meetings, that the United States reserved the right to change its stand on any decisions made there.

Administrator Porter Confident Production Soon To Stabilize Prices

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—On the heels of price increases for bread, flour and other foods, OPA Administrator Paul Porter today expressed confidence that "before too long" production gains will stabilize prices.

Taking an optimistic view even as higher ceilings went into effect on bakery products, wheat flour, cereals, macaroni, noodles, corn meal and hominy grits, Porter said: "I'm confident that before too long production here in this country is really going to take over and get in its own good ticks to help the government keep prices at levels everyone can afford."

Coffee To Cost More

As Porter spoke, OPA had tagged for announcement soon price hikes on more market basket items—citing increases of perhaps eight to 10 cents a pound on coffee and one to two cents on canned corn, peas and tomatoes.

Meanwhile, OPA ordered these retail increases into effect:

BREAD—One cent on loaves weighing up to two pounds; on bigger loaves, two to three cents.

BAKERY PRODUCTS—One cent a dozen on bread rolls, 15 per cent on cookies, crackers and biscuits.

FLOUR—About one cent a pound.

BREAKFAST CEREALS—One to three cents a package on all kinds except corn flakes, puffed rice and puffed wheat.

MACARONI AND NOODLES—Two cents on eight-ounce boxes, one cent on smaller packages.

CORN MEAL and hominy grits—One to two cents a pound.

OPA tumbled out announcements of these increases in rapid succession late yesterday.

It followed them with a ruling that no ceilings apply until at least Aug. 20 on corned beef hash, meat stews, tamales and chili con carne. This reversed an earlier decision.

Helps Millers

OPA also announced that millers' ceilings on corn meal, corn flour, hominy grits, brewers' grits and other corn products made by a dry-milling process have been increased $1.10 per 100 pounds.

This increase is being granted, OPA said, to compensate millers for the increase in corn prices since July 1, when grain ceilings lapsed.

The flour increase, and indirectly the higher prices on bread and bakery products, results from a decision against restoration at this time of the flour subsidy, which lapsed July 1.

The price of flour is increased by the amount of the former subsidy—$1.03 a hundred pounds—plus an allowance for the amount by which the current market price for wheat exceeds the previous ceiling on wheat.

The 1945-46 term ended with an enrollment of 150 to 160 students, who are employed at 40 different factories and garages in the Salem area.

Registration for the evening classes will take place at the Trades class office on the third floor of Salem High school between 6:30 and 9:30 p. m. Tuesday. Those enrolling in the Saturday class will report at the office between 8 and 12 noon next Saturday.

Students who wish to enroll in the auto mechanics class will register at the High school between 6:30 and 9:30 p. m. on Friday, Aug. 16. Instructors for this course will be Willard Yengling and Irwin Beck.

Courses Offered

Extension students will have a choice of the following courses: Mechanical design, strength and materials, metallurgy and mechanical drawing and blueprint reading.

Canton Car Dealer Held For Over-Ceiling Sale

CANTON, Aug. 3.—Arthur E. Baker, 39, Canton used car dealer, today was arraigned before United States Commissioner Charles M. Ball here on a charge of selling a 1937 car at over-ceiling prices.

His request for a hearing before the commissioner was granted. It will be held at 10:30 a. m. Tuesday. Baker, meanwhile, is free under $1,500 bond.

He was arrested by OPA investigators and Canton detectives after a transaction in which Baker allegedly accepted $550 from a 19-year-old veteran for the car. The warrant alleged that the maximum OPA ceiling price for the car, a sedan, was $336.

Abide By World Court

The senate bowed out with a thumbs up to a vote approving a resolution authorizing the President to deposit with the United Nations this country's agreement to abide by decisions of the world court in matters pertaining to treaty interpretations, international law, breaches of international obligations, and reparations.

The court's jurisdiction would not be accepted, however, in matters which the United States considers strictly its own domestic business.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) of the foreign relations committee placed immigration and operation of the Panama canal in this category.

Security Tax Frozen

The scattering lawmakers of the senate and house left their major legislation on the White House doorstep, including a $2,536,289,000 appropriation bill carrying funds for enlisted men's furlough pay.

Also approved in the last minute rush was a measure boosting old age benefit and other payments and freezing the social security payroll tax until January, 1948, at the present level of one per cent on employers and employees.

RETURNS FOR OHIO FARMERS ARE HIGH

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Aug. 3.—The general level of prices received by Ohio farmers for their products soared to "record or near record" levels for the month ended July 15, the State Cooperative Crop Reporting Service said today.

New highs were established by beef cattle, veal calves, lambs, milk cows, chickens, butter and butter fat, the report said, while prices for corn, wheat, oats, barley, hops, sheep and milk sold wholesale were the highest since the post-World War I period.

Prices received for potatoes, hay and apples declined.

Farmers received $18.80 per hundredweight for veal calves and $18 per cwt. for beef cattle in July, compared with $16.70 and $15.50, respectively, the previous month and $15.30 and $14.20 in July, 1945, the report showed. The January 1935-December 1939 average was $7.80 per cwt for veal calves and $6.56 for beef cattle.

Report On State of the World

The nearest thing to a spokesman for the world is Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the United Nations. His report on the state of the world as it looks to him after six months on the job (he was installed in office last Feb. 2) is not reassuring.

The Norwegian who was chosen to preside over the world's most ambitious experiment in the compromising of differences of opinion that might lead to war sees a growing possibility of failure in the reluctance of sovereign states to give as well as take.

He does not think the United Nations so far has lived up to its potentialities, because the great powers have been unwilling to come to agreements among themselves. They have lacked mutual understanding and a will to compromise, he says.

They have lacked mutual trust, also, he charges, and this has impeded the desire of the peoples represented in the United Nations for the victories of peace they made possible during the war with their sacrifices.

The United Nations, he points out, is powerless in itself, being no stronger than the collective will of the nations that support it. He does not say the collective good will, but that is what he plainly means.

Even their collective will to support it financially is flabby and inadequate, the secretary-general reports. Many of the nations have not paid their dues on schedule. In summary, the state of the world as reflected in the state of the organization to keep the world from destroying itself with violence is not good. Secretary-General Lie's punch-paragraph is this one: "As in the control of atomic power, the choice is between life and death. The failure of the United Nations would mean the failure of peace, the triumph of destruction."

His report as submitted will be filed with other important papers of our times—preferably in the pigeon-hole marked, "I told you so," where historians will be able to lay their hands on it for future reference.

Breaking the Bad News

President Truman's plea for government economy makes a nice headline, but the real news would be an executive order abolishing say half a dozen, agencies that wouldn't be missed. But don't wait for it to happen.

It is probable the purpose of the plea is to get the public ready for an administration drive to retain wartime tax rates. But first, taxpayers should be soothed with the thought of spending agencies scrapping the bottom of the financial barrel.

The truth is that pleas for economy mean no more than plans to drive slowly, to fight the black market, or to see the dentist twice a year. It was Franklin D. Roosevelt who made the great discovery that the federal government cannot be operated any more cheaply than it is without lopping off agencies which are "indispensable." If every existing agency were tightened up to the cracking point of efficiency, the net saving would be peanuts. Until and unless government is cut back by popular demand and with popular approval, its cost will continue to be high and go higher.

It is not in the cards as they lie now that Mr. Truman and his party intend to cut back a government which proved that spend-and-spend-and-elect-and-elect is practical politics. What is in the cards as they lie is that Mr. Truman and his advisers realize that wartime tax rates must be retained to keep government going in the style to which it is accustomed. Meanwhile, of course, there will be economy. The administration couldn't very well break the bad news of high taxes while the public still thinks of government in terms of the Garson brothers. That is a picture that must be put aside. Kindly step this way, ladies and gentlemen, and look at federal economy instead.

Everybody and His Brother

The comptroller general of the United States, Lindsay C. Warren, has told the Senate war investigating committee that "it looked as if everybody and his brother were out to get the government during the lush war years."

Granting that Warren didn't mean literally "everybody and his brother," we hope he had at least the following exceptions in mind:

Parents, wives and children who gave sons, husbands and fathers to the government and in many cases never got them back.

Millions of fighting men who faced death because their government asked them to.

Millions of civilians whose wages were held down by government edict, because the government said it was afraid of inflation.

Millions of civilians who volunteered for unpaid jobs because they had nothing but time and energy to give to their government.

Millions of patriots who gave their government all the surplus money they could spare because the government had to preserve its credit.

Millions of Americans who emerged from the war personally poorer than before because they obtained nothing from it to make up for the cheapening of money.

There are many Americans who actually thought of the war as a financial boom and the opportunity of a lifetime to feather their nests. It is easy to imagine the comptroller general might have formed the impression while the war was in progress that "everybody and his brother" were milking the government for all it was worth during the war years.

Washington was like that in wartime.

But the war wasn't won that way. Mr. Warren. That was just the way some of the people behaved while the rest of the people were undergoing the impoverishment that is the price of all wars.

The Stars Say

For Sunday, August 4

SUNDAY'S horoscope encourages a slowing-down process, a letting-down from preceding high tension and over-dramatic thrills. These may have incited a nervous, crotchety, quarrelsome or jealous state of mind and mode of action, in which "the least said is soonest mended." Excitement, indulgence, scenes get nothing and nowhere.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a year in which all progress, happiness and gain depend upon firm control of all words, deeds and actions. Contacts with business and domestic or social associations are important.

Nervous tension, depleted vitality or mental inertia or laxity might beget regrets of far-reaching significance. Attention to health, rest, vacations, or pleasant diversions may be excellent groundwork for future progress.

A child born on this day may not possess as vital and robust physical or mental assets as might be desired for aggressive or strenuous labor and its early development considering such lack is indicated.

For Monday, August 5

Monday's astrological forecast is for a continuation of the preceding state of affairs, in which a lagging inclination to any sort of either physical or mental exertion should serve as a signal for attention to the physical, nervous, and mental well-being.

Overwork, excitement, highly stimulated energies and consequent extremes in conduct or attitudes seem to suggest a definite letting down of the high tempo. Rest, relaxation, prolonged vacations should be deemed a sound basis for future brilliant progress.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves in a year in which they are disposed to work along lines of least resistance, letting events and general conditions shape their actions rather than a keen, well-regulated and developed attack upon individual problems or objectives.

A depleted or rundown physical condition, or a lax or indifferent outlook upon current prospects, might be analyzed and call for a change of atmosphere, physical, mental or spiritual. Rest, relaxation, new interests or diversions should prove excellent stimuli for future lucrative performance and satisfaction. An about-face on life often proves dynamic.

A child born on this day may not feel disposed to tackle the job of living or enjoying with any enthusiasm, being disposed to "let George do it." Early analysis of such static condition would prove of lasting value.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Tuberculosis Still A Killer

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

MANY people can scarcely remember the days when tuberculosis was known and feared as "The Great White Plague." It might be well if they could, for we should never lose sight of the fact that this once most-dreaded of all diseases remains a killer still.

It is true that we have been able to reduce the number of its victims very materially during the past 40 years. We have learned how to take better care of those who are not spared.

Deaths In 1940

And yet, despite all this, in the last year of peace, 1940, well over 50,000 people in the United States died of tuberculosis, and now, as always in the wake of war, tuberculosis is on the march again.

The greatest safeguard the people as a whole can have against it lies in early diagnosis of those cases which do occur. It is here also that those who are afflicted find their best hope.

The earlier the condition is diagnosed and treated, the better is the chance that it can be checked or arrested. Early discovery means that less damage has been done, hence, less time is required for healing. Thus, a shorter period of hospitalization is required and arrest of the disease is brought about at a lower cost.

Public Protection

Early diagnosis also means better protection for the public. The patient's family and friends can be kept out of contact and the spread of tuberculosis from person to person lessened.

Drs. Isidore D. Bobrowitz and Ralph E. Dwork of New York have made a study of 200 patients to determine the factors that aid the physician in making an early diagnosis of tuberculosis. Of the 200 only 37 were without some symptoms in the early stages of the disease.

The symptom most commonly present was cough. Others included expectoration, loss of weight, pain in the chest, weakness, fever and night sweats. In a few cases there were hoarseness, pain in the back, headache and sleeplessness.

Often, the patient is not conscious of his symptoms or ascribes them to some condition other than tuberculosis. For example, the patient often thinks that the cough is due to smoking, and that fatigue and loss of weight are the result of overwork or not eating enough of the right foods.

But, of course, whenever such symptoms are present, a careful study by the physician should be made. The study should include X-rays of the chest.

X-Ray Examination

In over 99 per cent of the cases these physicians believe X-ray examination of the chest will make it possible to diagnose tuberculosis when it is present. In fact, they insist that no patient should be told that tuberculosis is absent unless an X-ray of the chest has been taken.

Tuberculosis was once the great mass killer, pounding so often and so fatally that it was known as the "captain of the men of death." It could become so again but it is equally true that vigilance can do much, if not to banish it altogether, at least to make it relatively harmless.

If tuberculosis can be discovered by simple X-ray of the chest, then it goes without saying that whenever it is even remotely suspected, that X-ray should be made, and made promptly.

Report On State of the World

The nearest thing to a spokesman for the world is Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the United Nations. His report on the state of the world as it looks to him after six months on the job he was installed in office last Feb. 21 is not reassuring.

The Norwegian who was chosen to preside over the world's most ambitious experiment in the compromising of differences of opinion that might lead to war sees a growing possibility of failure in the reluctance of sovereign states to give as well as take.

He does not think the United Nations so far has lived up to its potentialities, because the great powers have been unwilling to come to agreements among themselves. They have lacked mutual understanding and a will to compromise, he says.

They have lacked mutual trust, also, he charges, and this has impeded the desire of the peoples represented in the United Nations for the victories of peace they made possible during the war with their sacrifices.

The United Nations, he points out, is powerless in itself, being no stronger than the collective will of the nations that support it. He does not say the collective good will, but that is what he plainly means.

Even their collective will to support it financially is flabby and inadequate, the secretary-general reports. Many of the nations have not paid their dues on schedule. In summary, the state of the world as reflected in the state of the organization to keep the world from destroying itself with violence is not good.

Secretary-General Lie's punch-paragraph is this one: "As in the control of atomic power, the choice is between life and death. The failure of the United Nations would mean the failure of peace, the triumph of destruction."

His report as submitted will be filed with other important papers of our times—preferably in the pigeon-hole marked, "I told you so," where historians will be able to lay their hands on it for future reference.

Breaking the Bad News

President Truman's plea for government economy makes a nice headline, but the real news would be an executive order abolishing half a dozen agencies that wouldn't be missed. But don't wait for it to happen.

It is probable the purpose of the plea is to get the public ready for an administration drive to retain wartime tax rates. But first, taxpayers should be soothed with the thought of spending agencies scraping the bottom of the financial barrel.

The truth is that pleas for economy mean no more than pleas to drive safely, to fight the black market, or to see the dentist twice a year. It was Franklin D. Roosevelt who made the great discovery that the federal government cannot be operated any more cheaply than it is without looting off agencies which are "indispensable." If every existing agency were tightened up to the cracking point of efficiency, the net saving would be peanuts. Until and unless government is cut back by popular demand and with popular approval, its cost will continue to be high and go higher.

It is not in the cards as they lie now that Mr. Truman and his party intend to cut back a government which proved that spend-and-spend-and-elect-and-elect is practical politics. What is in the cards as they lie is that Mr. Truman and his advisers realize that wartime tax rates must be retained to keep government going in the style to which it is accustomed. Meanwhile, of course, there will be economy. The administration couldn't very well break the bad news of high taxes while the public still thinks of government in terms of the Garson brothers. That is a picture that must be put aside. Kindly step this way, ladies and gentlemen, and look at federal economy instead.

Everybody and His Brother

The comptroller general of the United States, Lindsay C. Warren, has told the Senate investigating committee that "it looked as if everybody and his brother were out to get the government during the lush war years."

Granting that Warren didn't mean literally "everybody and his brother," we hope he had at least the following exceptions in mind:

Parents, wives and children who gave sons, husbands and fathers to the government and in many cases never got them back.

Millions of fighting men who faced death because their government asked them to.

Millions of civilians whose wages were held down by government edict, because the government said it was afraid of inflation.

Millions of civilians who volunteered for unpaid jobs because they had nothing but time and energy to give to their government.

Millions of patriots who gave their government all the surplus money they could spare, because the government had to preserve its credit.

Millions of Americans who emigrated from the war personally poorer than before because they obtained nothing from it to make up for the cheapening of money.

There are many Americans who actually thought of the war as a financial boom and the opportunity of a lifetime to feather their nests. It is easy to imagine the comptroller general might have formed the impression while the war was in progress that "everybody and his brother" were milking the government for all it was worth during the war years.

Washington was like that in wartime. But the war wasn't won that way, Mr. Warren. That was just the way some of the people behaved while the rest of the people were undergoing the impoverishment that is the price of all wars.

The Stars Say

For Sunday, August 4

SUNDAY'S horoscope encourages a slowing-down process, a letting-down from preceding high tension and over-dramatic thrills. These may have incited a nervous, crotchety, quarrelsome or jealous state of mind and mode of action, in which "the least said is soonest mended." Excitement, indulgence, scenes get nothing and nowhere.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a year in which all progress, happiness and gain depend upon firm control of all words, deeds and actions. Contacts with business and domestic or social associations are important.

Nervous tension, depleted vitality or mental inertia or laxity might best beget regrets of far-reaching significance. Attention to health, rest, vacations, or pleasant diversions may be excellent groundwork for future progress.

A child born on this day may not possess as vital and robust physical or mental assets as might be desired for aggressive or strenuous labor and its early development considering such lack is indicated.

For Monday, August 5

Monday's astrological forecast is for a continuation of the preceding state of affairs, in which a lagging inclination to any sort of either physical or mental exertion should serve as a signal for attention to the physical, nervous, and mental well-being.

Overwork, excitement, highly stimulated energies and consequent extremes in conduct or attitudes seem to suggest a definite letting down of the high tempo. Rest, relaxation, prolonged vacations should be deemed a sound basis for future brilliant progress.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves in a year in which they are disposed to work along lines of least resistance, letting events and general conditions shape their actions rather than a keen, well-regulated and developed attack upon individual problems or objectives.

A depleted or rundown physical condition, or a lax or indifferent outlook upon current prospects, might be analyzed and call for a change of atmosphere, physical, mental or spiritual. Rest, relaxation, new interests or diversions should prove excellent stimuli for future lucrative performance and satisfaction. An about-face on life often proves dynamic.

A child born on this day may not feel disposed to tackle the job of living or enjoying with any enthusiasm, being disposed to "let George do it." Early analysis of such static condition would prove of lasting value.

Tuberculosis Still A Killer

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

MANY people can scarcely remember the days when tuberculosis was known and feared as "The Great White Plague." It might be well if they could, for we should never lose sight of the fact that this once most-dreaded of all diseases remains a killer still.

It is true that we have been able to reduce the number of its victims very materially during the past 40 years. We have learned how to take better care of those who are not spared.

Deaths In 1940

And yet, despite all this, in the last year of peace, 1940, well over 50,000 people in the United States died of tuberculosis, and now, as always in the wake of war, tuberculosis is on the march again.

The greatest safeguard the people as a whole can have against it lies in early diagnosis of those cases which do occur. It is here also that those who are afflicted find their best hope.

The earlier the condition is diagnosed and treated, the better is the chance that it can be checked or arrested. Early discovery means that less damage has been done, hence, less time is required for healing. Thus, a shorter period of hospitalization is required and arrest of the disease is brought about at a lower cost.

Public Protection

Early diagnosis also means better protection for the public. The patient's family and friends can be kept out of contact and the spread of tuberculosis from person to person lessened.

Drs. Isidore D. Bobrowitz and Ralph E. Dwork of New York have made a study of 200 patients to determine the factors that aid the physician in making an early diagnosis of tuberculosis. Of the 200 only 37 were without some symptoms in the early stages of the disease.

The symptom most commonly present was cough. Others included expectoration, loss of weight, pain in the chest, weakness, fever and night sweats. In a few cases there were hoarseness, pain in the back, headache and sleeplessness.

Often, the patient is not conscious of his symptoms or ascribes them to some condition other than tuberculosis. For example, the patient often thinks that the cough is due to smoking, and that fatigue and loss of weight are the result of overwork or not eating enough of the right foods.

But, of course, whenever such symptoms are present, a careful study by the physician should be made. The study should include X-rays of the chest.

X-Ray Examination

In over 99 per cent of the cases these physicians believe X-ray examination of the chest will make it possible to diagnose tuberculosis when it is present. In fact, they insist that no patient should be told that tuberculosis is absent unless an X-ray of the chest has been taken.

Tuberculosis was once the great mass killer, pouncing so often and so fatally that it was known as the "captain of the men of death." It could become so again but it is equally true that vigilance can do much, if not to banish it altogether, at least to make it relatively harmless.

If tuberculosis can be discovered by simple X-ray of the chest, then it goes without saying that whenever it is even remotely suspected, that X-ray should be made, and made promptly.

Letters to Dr. Bundesen should be addressed in care of 235 E. 43th st., New York City.

Questions and Answers On Problems of the Servicemen

Q. What must a veteran do if he has lost his original discharge papers?

A. He must apply for a certificate, and if the discharge paper, from the branch of the service from which he was discharged, upon presenting this certificate to the Veterans Administration office, the veteran may be issued a duplicate of eligibility.

Q. Does it make any difference to the veteran whether the lender procures insurance or guarantee on his G. I. loan?

A. Yes. Only 15 per cent of the obligation of the veteran if the insurance is handled by the lender, whereas insurance provisions, whereas the charge may be as much as 50 per cent of the obligation, if guaranteed. The result is that more of the obligation is used up in a loan transaction by guaranty ordinarily, and remains available for future transactions.

Q. I am interested in learning a certain skilled trade and want to go into training for it but one of my relatives thinks I'm not fitted for it. I don't know; I never had any experience before I got into the Army, nor any in the Army. Is there a way to figure out in advance whether I possibly could be good at this trade?

A. Yes, the Veterans Administration guidance service is equipped to use the best modern tests and testing devices, mechanical and other types, including the kinds used in many education and industrial establishments, to help you determine your strong points. If you ask for a test you will be advised as to the occupation or type of occupation for which you are best suited.

Q. Are veterans of World War I eligible for benefits under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act (G.I. Bill)?

A. No. Its benefits are for World War II veterans only.

Q. May a veteran who obtained a G. I. home loan last October obtain a further loan under the amended G. I. Bill?

A. Yes, a veteran who has been guaranteed the maximum of $2,000 under the original G. I. Bill for the purchase of a home or a farm, may be eligible for a further guarantee of $2,000 for a real estate loan, or $1,000 for a business or non-real estate loan under the amended G. I. Bill. Consult the bank or lending agency which handled your original loan for further details.

Q. When is National Service Life Insurance considered lapsed?

A. It is lapsed when a veteran fails to make a payment of premium within 31 days from the date it was due.

Q. Can a veteran be admitted to Veterans Administration hospital if his injury has been incurred since he left the service?

A. Yes. However, unless emergency hospitalization is needed, veterans with non-service-connected disabilities will be admitted immediately only if bed and space is available which is not needed by a veteran with a service-connected disability.

Questions and Answers On Problems of the Servicemen

Q. What must a veteran do if he has lost his original discharge papers?

A. He must apply for a certificate, in lieu of the discharge paper, from the branch of the service from which he was discharged. Upon presenting this certificate to the local Veterans Administration office, the veteran may be issued a certificate of eligibility.

Q. Does it make any difference to the veteran whether the lender procures insurance or guarantee on his G. I. loan?

A. Yes. Only 15 per cent of the obligation is charged against the entitlement of the veteran if the insurance is handled by the lender under insurance provisions, whereas the charge may be much as 50 per cent of the obligation, if guaranteed. The result is that more of the entitlement is used up in a loan transaction by guaranty ordinarily, and less remains available for future transactions.

Q. I am interested in learning a certain skilled trade and want to go into training for it but one of my relatives thinks I'm not fitted for it. I don't know; I never had any experience before I got into the army, nor any in the Army. Is there a way to figure out in advance whether I possibly could be good at this trade?

A. Yes, the Veterans Administration guidance service is equipped to use the best modern tests and testing devices, mechanical and other types, including the kinds used in many education and industrial establishments, to help you determine your strong points. If you ask for it, you will be advised as to the occupation or types of occupation for which you are best suited.

Q. Are veterans of World War I eligible for benefits under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act (G.I. Bill)?

A. No. Its benefits are for World War II veterans only.

Q. May a veteran who obtained a G. I. home loan last October obtain a further loan under the amended G. I. Bill?

A. Yes, a veteran who has been guaranteed the maximum of $2,000 under the original G. I. Bill for the purchase of a home or a farm, may be eligible for a further guarantee of $2,000 for a real estate loan, or $1,000 for a business or non-real estate loan under the amended G. I. Bill. Consult the bank or lending agency which handled your original loan for further details.

Q. When is National Service Life Insurance considered lapsed?

A. It is lapsed when a veteran fails to make a payment of premium within 31 days from the date it was due.

Q. Can a veteran be admitted to a Veterans Administration hospital if his injury has been incurred since he left the service?

A. Yes. However, unless emergency hospitalization is needed, veterans with non-service-connected disabilities will be admitted immediately only if bed and space is available which is not needed by a veteran with a service-connected disability.

Missing Girl's Body Found

The ravished body of Ruth McGurk, 25, of Cambridge, Mass., is seen from a cranberry bog pond at Wareham, eight miles from the dance hall at Onset, Mass., from which she disappeared July 27. One Year After the First Atom Bomb

HIROSHIMA IS STILL A DESERT OF RUIN

Weeds grow through the rubble, and a few temporary shacks dot the landscape, but otherwise Hiroshima appears little different than a year ago, when world's first atomic bomb destroyed it.

On Aug. 6, 1945, the nation was electrified by President Truman's announcement that U. S. airmen had dropped an atomic bomb on Hiroshima, Japan. The teeming city of 343,000 people was 60 per cent obliterated, with only 2.8 of its 6.9 square mile area undamaged. The place was literally crushed to earth and today—a year later—it presents much the same picture of complete desolation. A little rebuilding has been attempted. The railroad station has been rebuilt and an effort made to restore transportation.

People live in the ruins or in makeshift wooden shacks. Schools are in operation often in wrecked buildings. A few residents have attempted to resume business, some opening souvenir shops to sate the Yankee dollar. These photos, by Tom Shafer, NEA-Acme correspondent, show typical scenes in Hiroshima—one year after.

Hideous scars still mark face of this young atom bomb victim.

In one of few concrete buildings that withstood the atom bomb, schoolrooms have been set up. Note wall at right, blasted out.

Defeat By Eagles Drops Crescents From First Place Tie

Eagles Upset Leetonia 6-3 In Lone Class A Tilt Friday

A fighting Eagles team Friday night upset the Leetonia Crescents by a score of 6-3 before a large crowd at Centennial park in the only Class A game of the evening. The game was a replay of one that was protested originally.

The game was fiercely contested by both teams all the way, with the Eagles winning by outhitting the Crescents when it counted.

The game pulled the Eagles into a tie with the Ohio Grills for fourth place and dropped the Crescents back a full stride behind league-leading Mullins.

Scoring a run in both the first and second innings, the Eagles took an early lead. Leetonia pushed across one in the third and then went ahead with two more in the sixth.

However, the Crescents were not ahead very long, as the Eagles opened up with the heavy artillery in the last inning and smashed across four runs on five hits to ice the game.

Singles by Earl May, John Delfavero, Dick Scullion, pinch-hitter John Dermotta and Jim Armeti added to a wild throw by Leetonia's first baseman, Bob Weikart, combined to tally the four runs.

Clunen for Leetonia, gave up nine bingles, while Henry Dermotta, Eagle twirler, was touched for eight. Dermotta fanned three. Leading hitters of the evening were May and Sammy Stumpo with the same number for the losers.

There was tight fielding on the part of both teams, with only one error being chalked up all night. Both teams were trying desperately to cop the tilt and a very close game resulted.

ALLIE REYNOLDS BLANKS YANKEES

Giives Up Only Two Hits To Mighty New Yorkers In Friday Contest

CLEVELAND, Aug. 3.—Allie Reynolds had his revenge over the mighty New York Yankees today and an open-day in the Cleveland playing schedule gave the veteran hurler a holiday to celebrate it.

The Indians' No. 2 mound ace shut out the Yanks with two hits last night for a 3 to 0 decision that brought him his sixth straight victory and eighth win of the season.

It was Allie's second victory in a row over New York and just about wiped out the bad taste left by 2-0 and 1-0 counts in two of his three setbacks by the Yanks this year.

A second-inning double by Bill Johnson, which scored over George Case's head in deep left center, and a fluke single by George Stinewiss in the eighth were the only blows garnered by the losers. Not a single member of the Yanks, who have suffered three shutouts this week, passed second.

Ernie Bonham, who held the Indians to four hits in seven innings before being taken out for a pinch hitter, was charged with the loss. Allen Gettel succeeded him and gave up one hit.

The two clubs will end their three-game series with a double header in the stadium tomorrow.

Between Pictures

Switching from Fort Wayne to Peoria club this season, pleasingly plump Annabelle Lee stands out among pitchers in All-American Girls' League. A resident of North Hollywood, Calif., smooth southpaw appears in television shows and motion pictures during off-season.

Pittsburg Baseball Club Sold, Newspaper Reports

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 3.—Frank E. McKinney, 42-year-old Indianapolis businessman, is the new owner of the Pittsburgh Pirates baseball club, the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette said today.

In a grant page story signed by Sports Editor Harvey J. Boyle, the paper said it "learned definitely" that "after a half century ownership the Dreyfuss family has agreed to sell the Pirates to McKinney." The price was reported around $2,250,000.

But President William E. Benswanger, for the umpteenth time, denied the report and declared "the picture is no different than it was yesterday." This, he said, referred to his prior statement that McKinney and Charles J. Margiotti, Pittsburgh lawyer who also seeks to buy the cellar-dwelling Bucks, had an equal chance of obtaining the club.

Named AP Sports Editor

COLUMBUS, Aug. 3.—Donald W. Stull, member of the Columbus staff since 1941, has been named Ohio sports editor for The Associated Press.

He succeeds Harold B. Harrison, sports editor in Columbus since January, 1944, who has resigned to become sports editor of the Indianapolis Star. Stull was with the Coshocton Tribune, Akron Times-Press and Columbus Dispatch before joining The Associated Press.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Fritz Ostermueller, Pirates—Hurler's second straight shutout as he held the Giants to two hits in the opener of a double header which the Pirates won 6-0. The Giants won the nightcap 3-2.

Dick Whitman, Dodgers—Drove in two runs as the Dodgers beat the Reds 3-2.

Johnny Wyrostek, Phillies—Bunt safely to score Emil Verban with the run that beat the Cardinals 3-2.

Little Gems Annex 11th Straight Game

The Little Gems, currently the hottest team in Class B, hung up their 11th victory in a row Friday night against Washingtonville by a score of 5-3 at Reilly field.

The Gems dropped their very first game of the year to Goodrich, who won the first round, and have not been beaten since. They got their revenge against Goodrich last week and beat them soundly and now rest comfortably in the league lead by two full games.

The Gems fell on Pitcher Murphy of Bingville for 10 hits, taking the lead in the first canto with two runs and led all the way. Heavy hitters for the winners were Rudy Maroscher with a sparkling three for four performance and Jim Laughlin, who collected two bingles. H. Smith, Warner and Murphy each got two for the losers.

Anio Clotti held Bingville to nine base hits.

The second B tilt saw the Middles clup Jennings A. C. by a 5-4 count as they out hit the A. C. eight and five. Top hitter for the winners was Fidoe who collected three hits in four trips. Dougherty got two for Jennings.

Winning pitched was Cramer, who twirled a neat five hitter.

ALLIE REYNOLDS BLANKS YANKEES

Giives Up Only Two Hits To Mighty New Yorkers In Friday Contest

CLEVELAND, Aug. 3.—Allie Reynolds had his revenge over the mighty New York Yankees today and an open-day in the Cleveland playing schedule gave the veteran hurler a holiday to celebrate it.

The Indians' No. 2 mound ace shut out the Yanks with two hits last night for a 3 to 0 decision that brought him his sixth straight victory and eighth win of the season.

It was Allie's second victory in a row over New York and just about wiped out the bad taste left by 2-0 and 1-0 counts in two of his three setbacks by the Yanks this year.

A second-inning double by Bill Johnson, which soared over George Case's head in deep left center, and a fluke single by George Stirmweiss in the eighth were the only blows garnered by the losers. Not a single member of the Yanks, who have suffered three shutouts this week, passed second.

Ernie Bonham, who held the Indians to four hits in seven innings before being taken out for a pinch hitter, was charged with the loss. Allen Gettel succeeded him and gave up one hit.

The two clubs will end their three-game series with a double header in the stadium tomorrow.

MICHIGAN-BUCKEYE GAME A SELLOUT

Tickets For at Least Four Games This Season Will Be Gone Soon

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Aug. 3.—The Ohio State university football ticket office announced today that all tickets for the Ohio State-Michigan game here Nov. 23 have been sold out.

H. Wade Kramer, assistant director of ticket sales, said "there is absolutely no one ticket left for sale" for the annual Buck-Wolverine grid classic and predicted the Buckeyes' four other home games would be sold out before game time.

Minnesota Game Selling
"The Minnesota game Oct. 26 is virtually sold out," Kramer said, only a few boxes and seats in the north end of the stadium being available. These north end seats in past seasons have been sold on a general admission basis, but this year all of the stadium's 72,000-odd seats are being reserved.

Kramer said the Michigan game was over-subscribed the day ticket sales started, July 15, but that since then the university persuaded

Michigan to relinquish 4,000 of its annual block of 18,000.

"They are gone now, too," said Kramer.

Season book tickets, approximately 14,000, also have been sold out, Kramer reported, and some 2,000 requests for books have been filled by allotting single-game tickets. Henceforth, however, all orders must be on a game-by-game basis, he added.

Besides Michigan and Minnesota here, the Bucks also play Missouri Sept

Claims May Still Owes Him $5,000

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 3—Elisha Walker, senior partner of the New York firm of Kuhn-Loeb, informed Senator Mead (D-N.Y.) today that in 1941 he lent $5,000 to Rep. Andrew J. May (D-Ky.) at the request of munitions-maker Murray Garsson. Walker said he still has not been paid back.
The New York financier conferred here with Mead, who is chairman of the senate war investigating committee.
Afterward, Walker told reporters that prior to the maturity of the note, he had written May about it, and had received a reply from May "that he had given the original note as an accommodation to Mr. Garsson and that Mr. Garsson had advised him that such renewal note would be paid in a few days."
"In view of Mr. May's statement," Walker said, "I took up with Mr. Garsson the matter of paying that note. Up to the present time, however, it has not been paid."
Walker said that he had the details of the case before Mead because he "thought the committee should have all the facts."

Burglary Is Reported

The sheriff's office received an anonymous call Friday night regarding a burglary at Westville lake. The caller failed to give authorities the name of the person owning the home that was entered.
The only information obtained was that a quantity of valuables had been removed from the house by someone who gained entrance by means of a skeleton key.

How To Keep Germans In Cities Is Problem

BERLIN—There's a back-to-the-land movement in once highly industrialized Germany, and the fundamental reason is people's desire to get enough to eat.

A report from the office of Brig. Gen. William H. Draper, Jr., director of the Economics Division of the Office of Military Government (U. S.), says, "The reduction of rations in the U. S. Zone has had its effect through increased absenteeism and a tendency for workers to desert the less desirable industrial occupations in favor of farm work."

Weasels are found throughout the United States.

U. S. Medical Mission To Examine 450 Aleuts

WASHINGTON—The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service has dispatched a medical mission to examine the Pribilof Island seal herders.

The mission, headed by Dr. Russell C. Payne, a Washington physician, wants to find out about bad teeth and tuberculosis among the more than 450 Aleuts on St. Paul and St. George islands in the Bering sea.

Similar missions have reported that 75 per cent of the Aleuts between 15 and 20 already need false teeth.

Claims May Still Owes Him $5,000

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3—Elisha Walker, senior partner of the New York firm of Kuhn-Loeb, informed Senator Mead (D-N.Y.) today that in 1941 he lent $5,000 to Rep. Andrew J. May (D-Ky.) at the request of munitions-maker Murray Garrison. Walker said he still has not been paid back.

The New York financier conferred here with Mead, who is chairman of the senate war investigating committee.

Afterward, Walker told reporters that prior to the maturity of the note, he had written May about it, and had received a reply from May "that he had given the original note as an accommodation to Mr. Garrison and that Mr. Garrison had advised him that such renewal note would be paid in a few days."

"In view of Mr. May's statement," Walker said, "I took up with Mr. Garrison the matter of paying that note. Up to the present time, however, it has not been paid."

Walker said that he had the details of the case before Mead because he "thought the committee should have all the facts."
